About Strasbourg

Strasbourg is a unique city in France that is located in the north-east corner of the country. This city with its 2000-year-old history shares a border with Germany, because of which you will find a mix of German and French culture in terms of food, language, and traditions. Capital of the Alsace region, Strasbourg is one of the largest medieval quarters in Europe.

The cobbled streets keep weaving between half-timber houses that have been standing intact for hundreds of years.

About Colmar

The city is renowned for its well-preserved old town, its numerous architectural landmarks, and its museums. Colmar is the quintessential French village that makes you feel like you're in a fairy tale. With its half-timber tudor houses, gingerbread-type decor, and flowers galore, you'll feel like your dreaming.

About Château Du Haute-Koenigsbourg

Located in the commune of Orschwiller in the Bas-Rhin area of Alsace, France sits the medieval castle of Château du Haut-Koenigsbourg. The Château sits on a rocky spur overlooking the Rhine. It was used from the Middle Ages until the 30 years' war, when it was abandoned. It was then rebuilt from 1900-1908 at the command of the German Kaiser Wilhelm II. Today you can visit inside the château giving you an experience of living the Chateau life. From drawbridges to towers, everything you can imagine about medieval architecture appears right before your eyes.
